

EMS 110 : EMT Fundamentals

This is an introductory course which will prepare the student to work in the emergency medical field as an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT). This course will prepare the student to identify, assess, manage, and treat various types of pre-hospital traumatic and medical emergencies. The student will learn to perform various aspects of emergency medical care and ambulance operations under the scope of practice set forward by the U.S. Department of Transportation. (F, S, Su)

Credits 2

Component

LEC