

Consumer Information

The U.S. Department of Education has mandated that schools must provide currently enrolled students and/or prospective students a list of the information that must be disclosed with instructions for obtaining the full disclosure. The list must be provided annually. The schools are required to list all information that must be disclosed, briefly describe the disclosure information, and explain how students may obtain the disclosure information. Schools must promptly make the information available to any student upon request.

Please see the NDSCS Student Rights and Responsibilities: A Code of Conduct for a complete copy of the NDSCS statement regarding the disclosure of U.S. Department of Education mandated Consumer Information.
